

JEFF DUSHACK

Jeff Dushack works as an independent consultant in the building products industry focusing on strategic planning and growth. He holds an undergraduate degree in Mechanical Engineering from The Pennsylvania State University and an MBA from Indiana University. He spent nearly 20 years working for gypsum product manufacturers in sales, marketing and general management roles. He worked for U.S. Gypsum Company for nine years before moving to James Hardie Gypsum in 1999. James Hardie Gypsum was subsequently purchased by BPB Gypsum in 2002 and then BPB Gypsum was purchased by Saint-Gobain (parent company of CertainTeed) in 2005. From 2003-2006 he was General Manager of BPB's Finishing Products business. At the time of his departure from CertainTeed Gypsum in June of 2008, he was Vice President of Marketing for North America.